Basis' Flexible Solutions

Help Monster Stay at the Top of Their Game

FLEXIBLE SOLUTIONS FOR AN EVOLVING BUSINESS:

Early in the relationship, Basis Technologies provided media strategy & activation services support to the Monster media team. As Monster's business strategically evolves, they're on a longer-term path to self-service which will bring the media execution fully in-house. Both companies know it will take time and training to transition the work, but Basis Technologies encourages clients to do what is right for their business, including moving fluidly between solutions like managed services and self-service. Sr. Director of Global Media at Monster, Shaun Farrar said, "[Basis Technologies has] been really open in saying 'when you're ready, we're ready. We'll customize our approach with you.'"

MAKING BETTER USE OF VALUABLE TIME AND RESOURCES:

"Basis has made a significant impact on my team's ability to free up their time to focus on strategy and insights," said Shaun Farrar, Sr. Director of Global Media at Monster. Shaun and team specifically find significant value in the delivery integrations and reporting features. "Basis essentially consolidates multiple platforms so you don't have to log into four or five different platforms to pull reports and aggregate them—Basis does it for you. Rather than spending so much time pulling reporting, Basis gets rid of that friction and wasted time and really allows you as a marketer to dig into to the data and come up with sound strategy. Basis enables you to better use your time."

BASIS IS IN A CATEGORY BY THEMSELVES:

Shaun Farrar, Monster's Sr. Director of Global Media, said it best: "There really is not another Basis. You can work with any other DSP, but they are so limited in their scope that it becomes prohibitive. Basis not only has display and video capabilities and solutions, but also can help with social, search, and the entire digital ecosystem. That's incredibly attractive to a brand that has a small team in-house that activates globally and across multiple channels. I put Basis in a category by themselves for that reason."

Basis Technologies is an extension of our team. They improve how we work each-and-every day. We rely upon them immensely. They've got really smart people, very strategic, and very sound from an executional standpoint."
